

I pay over $50 per month for basic cable service, yet I use a small fraction of cable channels. If a la carte channels were to save cable subscribers money, yes of course I would be in favor of it. Who wouldn't?